Exhibition Game Won By Vulcan

The exhibition baseball game on Wednesday afternoon between Vulcan and Champion was won by the former by a score of 9-4. The disaster came to the locals in the first innings when bunched errors were largely responsible for five runs.
R. Knox pitched the first two innings for the local team and was followed by J. Walker, who held the game even from that point, Siler contributing one inning. Speer for Vulcan pitched a steady game throughout. The day was one of the finest and warmest of the spring and there was a good turnout of spectators, Carman-gay and Vulcan being well represented. While the game was lost Champion has every reason to feel pleased with the material in sight for a real ball team for this season, many young players being included in the line up. The teams were as follows:

Champion
McIntyre lf, Boss 2b, Walker cf and p, Siler 1b, 3b and p, Palmer ss, Watts
c, Matlock c, McCumber 3b, Collison rf, Cole cf, Ferguson rf, Knox p.
Vulcan
Murray 2b, Messenger 1b, Recor c,
J. F. Flynn 3b, Robson rf, Nickson lf, Speer p, R. Flynn ss, Marshall cf, Ferguson cf.

The new tennis court is now practically completed and play should be in full swing by the first of the week. The court is new from the ground up and the purchase of all equipment now has entailed considerable expense. A large membership is anticipated and prompt payment of fees will be necessary to meet obligations.

With seeding finished and the great bulk of the crop nicely up and looking about as well as it possibly could there is general satisfaction with the situation.
It would appear there there will be a slight decline in the acreage sown, less stubble having been put in to wheat this year, but while the wheat acreage may be somewhat less more coarse grains have been sown according to available information.

Don't forget the big baseball dance Friday, May 16th.

Young People's Service Sunday, May 18

A young people's service, planned by the young people's society for young people and everyone interested will be held in the United Church on Sunday evening next, May 18th.
Young people will provide appropriate music and other items of the service. Everyone heartily invited.

There will be no half-holiday next Wednesday May 21, and the stores will be open on Friday night and closed all day Saturday, May 24, a Dominion holiday.

J. H. Friesen will not be transferred to Vulcan until July, so all his old friends will find him at the Champion elevator until that time.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Interest in the provincial election is very slow in developing. The additions to this electoral division to the north are almost entirely rural, making the prospects of successful opposition to the sitting member very remote indeed, and it would appear doubtful if any opposition candidates will be nominated.

Everyone who visits Chamption on business or pleasure bent in which they visit the Community Hall are unstinting in their admiration of this building and are highly complimentary to the community spirit which made such a handsome and useful building possible. There is room for local pride in visitors' comments.

Chautauqua is again with us, or at least almost with us. The change of season should prove beneficial to the attendance and as there are some sixty guarantors there should be no difficulty from a financial point of view. The programs promise to be unusually attractive this year and doubtless will be highly enjoyed.

Secone Fortnightly Prov. Crop Report

Reports from numerous correspondents throughout the province indicate that 95 per cent of the wheat seeding is completed. Much of the wheat is above ground and while growth is slow due to continued cool weather, germination is uniform and the crop is of excellent color. From 35 to 40 per cent of oats and barley is already seeded and 70 per cent of sugar beets. The opinion generally expressed is that the wheat acreage is practically the same as that of last year while the area devoted to coarse grain shows an increase from 10 to 15 per cent. Moisture is sufficient for immediate needs in all parts of the province. Those areas, however, which suffered severely from drought in 1929 will require continued and abundant rainfall if good yields are to be obtained. Weather during the past fortnight has been cool with frequent showers in which all parts of the province have shared. The season of 1929 did not induce satisfactory germination of wild oats and other weed seeds; consequently an unusually large number of weeds are growing this season. In some districts seeding has been delayed in order to destroy these weeds before the grain is sown. In the central and northern parts of the province pasture and hay is growing slowly and considerable killing of sweet clover is reported. Alfalfa in the irrigated districts is making rapid progress. The condition of pasture in the range areas is reported to be satisfactory and live stock is in reasonable good condition.

"Broken Dishes," Great Comedy, at Canadian Chautauqua

SCENE FROM "BROKEN DISHES"

"He who cannot laugh at the play had better see his physician," says the New York Sun of "Broken Dishes," the popular comedy which will be presented at the coming Canadian Chautauqua here by the Martin Tivon Players of Canada. "Broken Dishes" is replete with hilarious laughter, tense drama and vivid depiction of the very real sort of people we meet in our daily life. The play unfolds an appealing love story between Elaine, the baby of the family, and the village grocer boy, whom she treats with icy scorn. But Pa and Elaine conspire together with surprising and dramatic results. "Broken Dishes" is a gem of a play, genuinely moving and uproariously funny.

Over Thirty Million Dollars Invested In Industries Using Clay From Canada's Deposits

Canada is fortunate in possessing resources in many types of clay employed in the manufacturing industries. In a list of 35 lines of manufacture in the Dominion, clay is one of the commonest raw materials. It is used in large amounts in the making of such materials as cement, paper, and tiles. It is even used as a purifier of land and oil. Its greatest use, however, is in the so-called clay-working industries in which over a million and a half tons of various types of clay enter into the composition of the products each year. These industries represent an invested capital of over $30,000,000 and employ almost 6,000 men.

These types of clay differ greatly in physical properties such as color in the natural and burned state, plasticity, strength when dry and burned, shrinkage, vitrification range and refractoriness. The clay used in the clay-working industries are classified according to the purposes for which they are adapted. For example, there are pottery clays, including china clay or kaolin and earthenware clays, used in the compounding of porcelain; stoneware clay for making vitreous ware, and earthenware clays making the more porous earthenware; refractory clays capable of withstanding very high temperatures used for the manufacture of firebricks; sewer pipe clays which produce a dense impervious body capable of taking a salt glaze for the making of sewer pipes and similar products; and brick and tile clays and shales for the manufacture of structural brick and the and farm drain tile.

The pottery clay cannot be said to be plentiful so far as distribution is concerned but there are a number of deposits of importance, particularly of china clay in Quebec and British Columbia; of ball clay in Saskatchewan; and of stoneware and earthenware clays in Nova Scotia, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Fireclays are graded according to their refractoriness or the temperature which they can withstand in service, ranging from low heat duty. The high heat duty or high grade fireclays are of rather rare occurrence in Canada but the lower grades are of broader distribution. With the exception of Prince Edward Island and Manitoba, all the provinces of Canada are known to possess deposits of fireclay though some of the deposits are too remote from the markets to be of immediate value.

In the manufacture of building brick and structural and drain tile, common surface clays and shales are used and, to a lesser extent, low grade fireclays. Canada has immense resources of such clays and shales suitable for making good quality brick of a wide range of texture and color, distributed through the nine provinces, and there is ample evidence that good clays are made of them. Close observers of conditions in Canada and the United States are struck by the greater proportion of brick structures, especially dwellings, in Canada.

In the ceramic laboratories of the department of mines which were established for the testing of clays and as an aid to the clay-working industries, a staff of engineers and assistants is engaged on various investigations bearing upon the problems of manufacture. Subjects of general interest to groups of ceramic manufacturers are investigated in detail, and technical advice and assistance in minor problems are freely given to individual manufacturers. The objects constantly being worked for are the improving and cheapening of the processes of manufacture and the aiding of the industry to produce better and wider ranges of wares.

The value of these services has recently been demonstrated through the successful outcome of an investigation of the drying of brick made from a certain type of clay very common in the prairie provinces. Bricks made from this clay are very difficult to dry without cracking even when the utmost care is exercised. A process was worked out and placed in operation in a plant with the result that the drying time was reduced to less than half, the drying loss practically eliminated and the finished brick greatly improved in quality. At this one plant a saving of many thousands of dollars was effected. The process which is applicable to many plants has since been adopted by several.

CHIC LINES
All Tingley models are created in Paris and sketched by her there. The patterns are made and adapted for American wear in New York by American patternmakers. A flock of exceptional smartness is this, yet one that is not at all difficult to carry out. The little bolero is in separate pieces, the main dress. The latter is adjusted to the shoulders.

Note how effectively the skirt section takes the curved line of the bolero. The elegant fulness of the shaped skirt fitting into a point as the skirt is worn.

Mid blue crepe-like woven made the original of this chic model. Lightweight tweeds, jersey, reps, and material of a similar type are all suitable.

The belt can be of self tissue or leather, as preferred.

Edges can be finished with several lines of stitching, bias bindings, or braid.

Good colors are most blues, greens, reds, beige, and tiny checks or spots.

This pattern may be obtained in sizes 16 to 20, and 34 to 40. It is ready for immediate delivery. It is hand cut.

Pattern price 25 cents. Be sure to fill in the order of pattern. Address Pattern Department.

Will Boost Grain Show

Co-Operation Of British National Farmers' Union Promoted
Stressing the fact that residents of the Old Country were "out for cheap food" and promising co-operation of the National Farmers' Union in giving publicity to the World Grain Exhibition and Conference to be held in 1923. Western Farmer, Montreal, England, past president of the Union, addressed a meeting of the Regina Board of Trade held in the Hotel Saskatchewan under the auspices of the agricultural division of the Board.

Mr. Baxter stated co-operation of the National Farmers' Union of Great Britain in boosting the World Grain Exhibition and Conference to be held in Regina, in 1923, would be forthcoming, and said that, through the 130,000 members of the union, the publicity through the Old Country would reach almost every possible exhibitor.

If assurance was given that exhibits sent over to Canada for the exhibition in Regina would be given a good display, he said that there was no reason why a large number of exhibits should not be shown at the grain exhibition.

Quality Is Assured

People Can Depend On Government Inspected Fruit and Vegetables

The buyer of food products more than anyone else today must know that he is getting the quality he buys. The shipping point inspection service of the Fruit Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture has established the confidence of the "trade," from producer to consumer, in the reliability of the government certificate. From a modest 2,530 carloads inspected five years ago, the federal inspection service last year inspected 25,760 carloads of fruit and vegetables, an increase over the preceding year of 9,281 cars. More than that, the inspection service, having created confidence in quality and developed uniformity, has made imported fruits and vegetables really popular on the larger markets, and in the export market premium prices have been obtained. The federal inspection service is a neutral determination of quality established between buyer and seller standardized by certificate.

Must Grow More For Less

Reducing Production Costs Is Present Problem For Farmer

"Lower costs are necessary in farm production in Canada," is the view expressed by E. S. Hopkins, Field Husbandman of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. "In an era of low prices the only avenue of escape to the farmer is for him to strive to reduce his production costs still further." Among the ways in which these costs can be lowered are the production of heavier yields per acre through better farming practices, the use of more labor-saving machinery. In these days of growing competition in both the domestic and export markets, the farmer who would succeed must grow more for less, and at the same time produce a quality which will sell better in the market than the competing product.

Betty: "Oh, I find it useful to carry a spare!"

First Class Equipment Pays

Enables Farmer To Increase Production At Lower Cost

The three important factors in the cost of producing crops are land, labor and capital, and the human factor is the only one which is more today than it was fifteen years ago, a statement prepared by officials of the Dominion Department of Agriculture shows. Field husbandmen therefore, stress the importance of making the hired man's wages count by supplying him with the first class equipment that wherever possible he may be able to do literally two days work in one. This is where modern farm machinery comes in. Eastern Canada crops take 20 hours labor per acre to harvest; Western Canada crops harvested with horse-drawn outfits take 11 hours labor per acre, and harvested with the use of the new combine-harvester the labor cost is only 2.5 hours per acre.

May Own Sugar Plantations

Princess Mary's Second Son In Line To Inherit Property

Princess Mary's second son, the Hon. Gerald David Lascelles, who is now five years old, may become the owner of sugar plantations and other property in Barbados, West Indies, under the will of his grandfather, the late Earl of Harewood, of Harewood House, Leeds. The earl left unsettled property of the gross value of $385,000, with net personality $293,288. He left the plantations on trust for his son, the Hon. Edward Cecil Lascelles, and heirs in tail male, when failing, to Princess Mary's son and his heirs in tail. Mr. Edward Lascelles is married, but has no children.

A Logical Conclusion

The pretty young kindergarten mistress had been telling her pupils all about the winds, their power, different effects and so on. And, "children," she went on, enthusiastically, "on the face of the sun something soft and kind and kind my cheek. What do you think it was?"

"The conductor?" cried the children joyously.

Western Farmers Living Up To Their Reputation For Optimism and Work

Insects Have Their Uses

Harmful In Some Ways, Are Protection In Others

Through years of investigation, scientists have found that insects, although harmful in some respects, greatly protect the garden plant from some of its worst enemies. Following are some of the beneficial utilities of bugs and insects: Lady bug beetles feed on plant lice and scale insects, in all stages. Horrocks feed entirely on insects. Frogs and toads feed largely on insects and slugs. Canada flies on small beetles and insects. Garden spiders feed on large flies, moths, etc.

Wasps are generally beneficial because predatory on other insects, which they use as food for their larvae.

Ground beetles feed on insects that go underground to pupate.

Bees are used as pollinators and are indispensable to plant life.

Tree crickets feed on plant life.

Dragon flies feed on all insects.

Higher Standard Of Living

Statistics Show Average Canadian Family Is Buying More

The purchasing power of the Canadian public is demonstrated by the average increased consumption in Canadian homes of meat and poultry, indicating a higher standard of living, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The per capita consumption of beef, pork, mutton and lamb increased from 154.14 pounds in 1928, to 157.81 pounds in 1929; consumption of poultry increased from 10.12 pounds to 11.28 pounds per person, and consumption of eggs from 30.59 dozens to 30.87 dozens. The average Canadian family consumed in 1929, over nine-tenths of a beef, over two and a half hogs, and over four-fifths of a sheep or lamb, in addition to seven fowls, three-quarters of a turkey and approximately half a goose and half a duck.

Predicts Larger Farms

Machinery Will Make This Possible Says Alberta Man

Addressing the Canadian Club of Winnipeg, A. E. Ottewill, registrar of the University of Alberta, predicted much larger farms in Western Canada in the near future, making large use of mechanized labor. As an instance of present and future trends he said that C. S. Noble, of Nobleford, Alberta, had in 1929 harvested 50,000 acres of wheat, yielding 30 bushels to the acre, with a combine harvester and thrasher at the rate of one acre in 7 1/2 minutes running time.

A ship's surgeon says that seasickness is "simply an act of the imagination."

There are about 520 muscades that have to do with the moving of the human body.

A. E. Warren, vice-president of the Western Farmers' Union, reports that both farmers and business men of the prairie country are more hopeful than was the case a few months ago. It comes to this conclusion after completing his latest trip through the West. Mr. Warren remarks that, "with his usual courage, the prairie farmer is not permitting market prices and discouraging reports to interfere with his work," and says that, except in isolated cases, the acreage being seeded this year is not being reduced. "Conditions favorable to the crop exist for the moment, and the rural atmosphere may be described as quite cheerful."

As suggesting an improvement in economic conditions in Canada generally, Mr. Warren's observations tend to bear out what his "chief," Sir Henry Thornton, has just remarked in New York. Sir Henry reports that business activity in Canada is steadily increasing and that normal conditions may again prevail by August. It is also of interest in connection with Canadian conditions, to note the decision of the Federal Reserve Board of the United States to facilitate throughout the republic the acceptance of the Canadian dollar at par.

Western farmers are doing their full part in Canada's nation-wide effort to right herself after one or two unfortunate occurrences that served to injure, though far from imperil, her economic fabric, these lying in partial crop failures and the stock market crash of last year. Western farmers are doing this in their own interest and in the national interest. And they are doing it in the main by "sawing wood" and maintaining their traditional determination and cheerfulness. The man who keeps pegging away at his job, who keeps a stiff upper lip, and who carries a smile through the darkest days, is usually, if not immediately, these are among the attributes and virtues of the average Western farmer, and these things explain why these days he is working overtime on the land with his smiling. Far from permitting himself to be completely discouraged by worry over last year's setback, he is concerning himself with the present and the future and working with commendable and inspiring industry, hope and faith to turn them to account. The psychology of the prairie farmer, the man who sticks to his post, is a lesson to the pessimist.—Regina Morning Leader-Post.

The vessel contains a ballroom, a large dining room, eight staterooms, a smoking room, and a smoking room. They have many antiques. Each cabin has a four-post bed, and is furnished with antiques. The walls are hung with oil masters. The vessel's tonnage is 1,195, and her length 101 feet. She carries a spread of white sail covering 14,500 feet, when all set.

Makes Landing Safer

A simple yet effective device has been installed in a few aeroplanes in England which aids them in landing on dark nights. Beneath each wing a small searchlight is fitted with the beams of light converging. The distance at which they cross each other, forming a large point of light, is known to the pilot, so as soon as he sees the light on any surface he knows how far he is from the ground.

Giant Rudder on Huge Truck

Sixty-seven tons of steel forged into a rudder to steer the 40,000-ton "Empress of Britain," Queen ship of the Canadian Pacific Atlantic fleet, was recently conveyed on the world's largest truck over a hundred miles highway between Burlington, England, and Glasgow, Scotland, in seven days. The rudder which is 21 feet 9 inches by 20 feet 3 inches, could not be taken by railroad, and was transported on a 14-wheeled vehicle carrying a telephone at the rear from which directions were called to the driver. Herded by Automobile Association scouts, and shepherded by police, long stretches of the road had to be closed to other traffic while it passed and in certain areas telegraph poles had to be shifted temporarily. Villages on the route there was a clearance of only 1 1/2 inches between the rudder and the walls of the houses. The rudder was delivered to the "Empress of Britain" ready to be placed in position.

Can "Good" Be Accomplished By "Force"?

Through the ages as man has struggled upward from his cavernous state to his present condition of semi-civilization, it requires only a hurried glance through the columns of any daily paper any day to prove that man is not yet fully civilized,—he has carried with him the brute instinct of trying to accomplish things by force rather than by persuasion; instead of trying to win support to his views and convictions, he has tried to force it. The more civilized, the better educated man becomes, the more does he rely upon appeals to reason instead of having resort to force. None the less the state of the nations today, and our tendency to resort to the power of legislation and law to enforce opinions upon others, reveals how largely we still depend on force to govern our everyday affairs.

The question, therefore, naturally arises: Has any definite lasting good ever come to humanity through the coercive action of force? Could one find a single, unquestionable instance in the whole range of human history where compulsion has been the direct and sole agency in changing the mental attitude, the belief, the convictions or the conduct—sense of any one normal intelligence? Without reserve one may venture to say "No" to both questions.

There is profound truth in Butler's couplet: "He that compels against his will, to take a different viewpoint, to espouse a different belief, to modify or discard a long-held conviction, to give conscience a new direction, and through it all to act differently,—the action being either good or bad according to the prevailing general opinion; but it is sincerely to be doubted that force, no matter what its form or its avowed purpose, ever has or ever will bring about the only thing—a change of mind and heart—that is necessary to produce a new line of action. Without the voluntary conversion of the individual mind and heart, that is, of thought and conscience, there can be no reasonable expectancy of bringing about, definitely, permanently and dominantly, a new condition—social, economic, political, ethical or moral. All our social reformers, our political leaders, our legislators, would do well to ponder this thought and pay closer heed to the lessons of experience and history.

If we would recast impartially the action of unrelaxed force directed with the ostensible purpose of producing eventual good, we may turn our eyes toward Russia today. True, the conflicting reports coming out of the country advise us to draw conclusions with a certain reserve, yet there is enough of what appears to be authentic to warrant the present view that the Soviet Government of Russia is in complete fulfilment in the fullest meaning of the term, to impose its minority, compactly organized will upon the unorganized great majority of that vast country.

The Communists may tell us, as well as some three-fourths of the people of Russia, that persuasion, through "propaganda" is their chief agency for the building of a "New Russia," but it is propaganda backed by armed force, by secret police, by studied cruelty, and by unrelenting terrorism. Putting the most charitable construction upon the Soviet's methods for the complete communication of Russia, they are trying to do what they consider to be good practically altogether by the exercise of force. A nervously organized minority seeks to compel a helplessly disorganized majority to accept without question its views as to what is best for the political, social and moral well-being of the whole.

And all history tells us that this cannot be done. Reform by force lasts just so long as the force which brought it about is strong enough to maintain it. Force not only invites opposition, but generates it. And soon or late, the opposing force becomes the more powerful, and we have another cycle of forces, more distance and confusion, and reaction, and perhaps, some more compulsory "reformation." But we cannot say confidently that out of it all has come a single, definite, permanent step of progress.

What is true of Russia just now, would be equally true of any other country, or state, or community. No matter how desirable the proposed or initiated reform may be, force, if applied to it, eventually will defeat it. Without the voluntary and earnest co-operation of a pronounced majority of all concerned even unquestioned good is not likely to be achieved. And surely no intelligent person would be content with "forced good."

Canada Has Barred Importation Of Parrots

First Outbreak Of Parrot Fever Is Reported From British Columbia. Canada will declare immediately an absolute embargo on the importation and transportation of all birds of the parrot species as a result of representations from the British Columbia Department of Health, which is now engaged in systematic efforts to stamp out parrot fever. Meanwhile, Dr. H. E. Young, provincial health officer, and his department, are engaged in a systematic campaign to confine the outbreak of parrot fever to a few cases around Vancouver.

They have been in telegraphic communication with United States authorities to secure the latest possible information on the subject. "This is the first outbreak of this disease, so far as we know in the history of Canada," Dr. Young said. "The health department here has records of all parrots brought to Canada from the Orient in recent months, and is endeavoring to ascertain their present whereabouts so that they may be examined."

Pleased With Tour
British Headquarters Enthusiastic Over Reception Accorded Them in Canada.
The party of English headmasters, who have been touring Canada, returned to Toronto enthusiastic over the reception tendered them throughout Ontario and confident that the tour would result in the right kind of English boy being sent to Canada.

Dr. Cyril Norwood, chairman of the party, said that after studying Canadian educational methods, they would advise "quality immigration." "We should not advise our boys to come to Canada, unprepared without money, expecting to find posts waiting for them," said Dr. Norwood. "We should tell them there are private universities, and that after leaving them they must make opportunities for themselves." Dr. Norwood believes that members of the Nordic strain are easily assimilated into the country, but that the flow from central Europe should be stopped.

Dates From Middle Ages
The expression, "The weakest goes to the wall," dates from the Middle Ages. In those days churches lacked pews, and the congregation stood on the rush-trewn floor of the nave throughout the service. Along the wall ran a low stone seat, which was used by the aged and infirm. The seats which gave rise to the expression may still be seen in some churches.

CHAPTER XI.—Continued—
“Well, I was bursting to tell you, seemed as if I couldn't get here quick enough. I knew Charmian was out, too, and thought maybe you'd like company. Besides, I wanted to borrow a lump of butter for the dinner. I almost forgot it, same as I forgot to order when the boy came down. Don't you get up, Grandma. I know your ice box most as well as I know my own.”
“And good reason, too!” murmured Grandma to herself as Miss Leslie waddled off. “Seems as if in the last thirty years there's nothing Lizzie Baker hasn't borrowed of me—unless it's my tooth brush.”

She turned to the window, stared for a moment, and then exclaimed: “Why, here comes Lawyer Garfield! What on earth does he want of me?”

CHAPTER XII.

Charmian was finding her old schoolmate a rather unseemable companion this morning. Once Grandma's cheery presence was left behind, he relapsed into silence, and was to all appearances giving his entire attention to the car. He didn't speak until they drew up before the Boscumb house with its expanse of glaring window.

“Hi! run ‘em,” said Charmian. “I can get away from Emmy quicker than you can, and we mustn't linger.”
“I'm not liable to linger with Emmy Boscumb,” replied Jim, stepping out before Charmian could move. “Of all the bors . . .”

He left the sentence unfinished, and strode up the path, while Charmian, who agreed with him about Emmy, smiled to herself as she watched him enter the door without waiting to knock. She was all regarding the new windows disapprovingly when he came out, tossed Grandma's catalogue onto the back seat, and said, as she started the engine: “Quick work that—considering Emmy's ordering a hat—by ‘mail!’”

The suspicion of a smile curved his lips, and Charmian laughed outright. “Did she ask you advice, Jim? I suppose she considered you an authority!”

He threw her a reproachful glance, but answered: “She showed me the picture, and asked whether to get blue, like her new waist, or black that'll go with everything. Kera's in favor of the blue. Emmy thought it might be extravagant. I voted with Kera, not because I cared a darn for the color, but because I saw it was what she wanted.”

“Tactful! Jim! I didn't know you were a diplomat.”
“There's a lot you don't know about me,” he responded cryptically, and once more retired into silence. Charmian, who feared to say the wrong thing, said nothing at all for a half mile; but as they climbed the hill that divided the two villages, she suggested: “Let's waste the minutes and stop under that oak tree. I love this view, Jim, and I haven't been here since the valley was first plowed. Somehow it always makes me think of ‘O little town of Bethlehem.’”

“Does it ever make you feel that way, Jimmy, especially on a winter evening when the lights shine out from the windows?”
The young man, who had obeyed and stopped the car, was leaning forward on the steering wheel, his eyes seeking the valley far below.

“You're a queer kid, Charmian,” he said quietly. “I guess you see things I don't see at all, and never will. I don't ever make you feel that I'd never think of comparing South Wickfield with Bethlehem. What put such an idea into your head?”

He was so genuinely puzzled that the girl laughed.
“You can laugh,” he burst out unexpectedly, “but it's no laughing matter to me. It makes me feel a thousand miles away from you. Grandma says you don't like the Boscumb windows, or at least, she doesn't like ‘em herself, which is the same thing.”

“This is a lightning change of subject,” commented Charmian.
“It's no change of subject at all,” corrected Jim. “And if we're going to get back before dinner—”
He started the car so suddenly that the girl lost her balance, and for a moment her “wonder-crowning glory” brushed his shoulder.

“Sorry,” Jim apologized. “This doesn't see that rock.”
He released the arm which he had instinctively thrust out to help her, and Charmian said: “Didn't you? For a minute I thought it might be your manner of inviting me to a petting party.”
“I don't pet that way,” said Jim, and actually smiled.
“That's better,” approved Charmian.
“What?”
“The smile. It makes you look more human. You've a terribly grim face, Jim, when you're upset mentally. Sometimes it scares me.”
“Who said I was mentally upset?” he demanded, scowling.
“No one had to say it. It's been written all over you for the last hour. I suspect that I'm responsible for it in a measure, and that makes me sad. Won't you smile and be friends?”
Jim smiled.

“You didn't quote correctly did you?” he inquired.
Charmian only laughed, and asked, as the car slowed down before a small, hazy, shabby cottage: “Is this where you collect your interest?”
It doesn't look as if the interest were well come, either.

Jim nodded, and reached for a brief case containing papers.
“Oh, Jim!” Charmian spoke softly so as not to be overheard by any one within “how can the poor soul meet things like interest? She has three children, hasn't she?”
“Five,” he corrected, and stepped out onto the grass-grown sidewalk.
“But—where does she get the money to pay you? You can't possibly—”
“You don't have to worry about that. The broke in Jim light, and turned away.

had to struggle as this poor woman must be struggling to keep the wolf from the door, shabby, sagging door? Was it just part of the day's work to them—collecting what must be the pitiful savings of weeks and months? And was Jim, who seemed so kind, like all the rest? Didn't he care . . .

Charmian pulled herself together suddenly, realizing that Jim had been gone some time, and that unless he hurried Doctor Carter would undoubtedly stop on the contrary, could be clean pot. Then the door opened, and though the woman smiled and shook hands with Jim, Charmian saw the unmistakable traces of recent tears in her red-rimmed eyes, and the girl's heart hardened a bit toward her old playmate and the hard, harsh world of business that was a part of him.

“Did she pay it?”
The question came almost against her will as they started back.
“She did,” said Jim. “That's why I went there wasn't it?”
“And you don't feel like—like Skylock?” burst from Charmian in sudden, overwhelming indignation.
Jim looked at her in amazement.
“Why in thunder should I feel like Skylock?”
His voice was cheerful, more cheerful than it had been since they started out.

CHAPTER XIII.

Sorry the ride wasn't more of a success,” said Jim, as he left Charmian at the side door.
She smiled at him wistfully; but it was the words, not the smile that lingered with her as she turned on the steps of the cottage.
Jim had brought back the uncomfortable feeling she had experienced earlier that day, when she thought she had hurt him. And he was right. The ride hadn't been much of a success. Charmian was, she told herself, ridiculously disturbed about it. The persistent pounding of Great-grandfather Davis's gold-headed cane, roused her to the fact that she hadn't run to her, but that Grandma, as was her almost inevitable habit on reaching home.

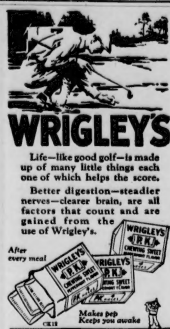

“Well,” said the old lady, as her granddaughter appeared in the doorway, “so you! I didn't know but what it was a tramp, so I made all the noise I could. Where's Jim? You? Gone? Dear me, I had something to tell him. You needn't rush round on the anniversary of her sailing from Halifax for India on May 3, this year. Forty years ago her dedication service was held at Iqeroloff.”

India's Caste System Not Breaking Down

Is Strong As Ever Among Orthodox, Says Missionary
“For public service in India,” engraved on the back of an imposing-looking medal, bearing the King's insignia, is, in brief, the story of Dr. Margaret MacKellar, 40 years ago joining and medical work in the Empire of the East, and of a king's recognition of a lifetime of devotion. It is the Kaiser-i-Hind Medal, second only to the Victoria Cross, and was pinned on Dr. MacKellar by Sir Michael O'Dwyer. It is awarded regardless of creed or color, and was, in this case, presented mainly for outstanding work during famine and plague.

But there is another medal of which Dr. MacKellar is a great possessor. It is a gold and silver medal, modest, little lady, with a very large heart, overflowing with India's need, is scarcely less proud. This medal is of pure gold and has four gold bars attached, one for 25 years of service, because such medals are given only to those who have served in India for a quarter of a century, and the other three denoting five years each. It was presented at the diamond jubilee of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, which met in Montreal, in 1924. The last two bars were added recently.

Dr. MacKellar is a graduate of Queen's University, and she celebrated the 40th anniversary of her sailing from Halifax for India on May 3, this year. Forty years ago her dedication service was held at Iqeroloff.

Teach Blind Children Physical Training

Unable To See Instructor Boys Follow Commands Easily

Blind children, handicapped by their lack of sight, have overcome many obstacles imposed by nature, but probably one of the most important achievements to their credit within the last year is their triumph in the realm of physical training, an insight into which was given at a class conducted by It. O. Patterson, physical director of the Central Young Men's Christian Association, at Montreal.
Unable to see their instructors, the boys followed the commands with the practiced ease of their more fortunate brothers who can see, and it was explained that, as a result of the carefully conceived plan for training these children, it was possible to lead them in certain exercises, the object of which is to help them increase their physical fitness. Similar results have been obtained with deaf and dumb children.

GIVE CONFIDENCE TO YOUNG MOTHERS

A simple and safe remedy for the common ills of babyhood and childhood should be kept in every home where there is either a baby or a child. Often it is necessary to give the little one something to break up a cold, avert fever, correct sour stomach, and banish the irritability that accompanies the cutting of teeth.
Experienced mothers always keep Baby's Own Tablets in the home as a safeguard against the troubles that their little ones so suddenly and the young mother can feel reasonably safe with a box of these Tablets at hand and ready for emergency.
Baby's Own Tablets are a mild but thoroughly effective that act without gripping and they are absolutely guaranteed free from opiates or other harmful drugs. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Daughter Is Stronger Now
“My daughter Catherine is fifteen years old. She was very irregular, often sick at her stomach and had to stay in bed two or three days at a time. One of your booklets was sent to me by mail so I got her a bottle of Vegetable Compound. Catherine has been taking it regularly and she is gaining in weight and every day. I told the neighbors and four other girls are taking it with good results.”—Mrs. Clarence Jenkins, Box 14, Thornhill, Ontario.

WIDER PREFERENCE IS BEING SOUGHT

A sub-amendment to the budget made its appearance from the Progressive group. Moved by W. R. Farnsworth, Progressive, Last Mountain, Sask., it reads as follows:

"That all words after 'it is of the opinion that' in the amendment in the 10th line thereof be struck out and the following substituted therefor:

"The government having definitely adopted the principle of increased protection, modified only by certain extensions of the British preference, it is to be regretted that more effective consideration has not been given to the position of agriculture and labor, but that, on the contrary, the changes made in the tariff and steel schedules will result in an increased cost in respect to all structural and other materials of production, and further, that the best interests of Canada would be served by a more substantial increase in the British preference, particularly as affecting textiles and other articles of a similar character, together with a modification or repeal of the regulations requiring a 50 per cent. Empire content which have largely nullified the effect of any preference given."

"That a much larger proportion of our revenues should be provided for the bush, direct taxation, especially through the Income Tax."

"We further wish to state our conviction that these and other changes in our fiscal policies are not of themselves a solution of our modern economic problems but that effective encouragement should be given to the development of co-operative principles, having regard to production, distribution and the utilization and control of credit."

Mr. Farnsworth asserted that the regulation which requires that there be 50 per cent. of Empire goods and workmanship in certain commodities in order that they may obtain the benefits of the preferential tariff was making it harder and harder for goods to come into Canada from Great Britain.

Aviator Makes Heroic Flight

But Failed to Effort To Save Life of Wounded Boy

Edmonton, Alberta. An heroic 16-hour flight by plane from Grande Prairie to the bush-covered Sturgeon Lake area 80 miles to the eastward and return, failed to save the life of a 17-year-old boy who was accidentally shot, according to meagre reports just received in Edmonton. The death of the youth is at present unknown.

Flying Officer Spadrow, of the forestry patrol at Grande Prairie, played unknown dangers in a desperate effort to reach the wounded youth, and after dodging and twisting between trees, finally landed his machine a mile and a half distant from the boy's home. The lad was brought over the intervening distance in a wagon, across a corduroy road. He died while the plane was speeding toward Grande Prairie.

Increase In Savings

Bank Deposits For March Showed Considerable Advance

Ottawa, Ont.—Savings deposits in Canadian banks increased by $15,575,817 during the month of March, according to the bank statement issued by the Department of Finance. At the end of March, savings deposits held by the banks totaled $1,455,311,562. There was a decrease during the month of March in the amount of call loans held outside Canada by the banks, and an increase in the amount held in Canada.

Will Make Tour Of Dominion

New York.—Hon. J. E. Fenton, Australian Minister of Trade and Customs, who arrived here recently after attending the London Naval Conference as Australian delegate, will travel through Canada on his return trip to the Commonwealth. He will visit Eastern Canadian cities and then journey westward, reaching Vancouver, May 24, sailing from Victoria, on the liner "Aronang," May 28.

U.S. Naval Program Bill

Washington.—A naval building program costing the United States approximately one billion dollars and designed to bring parity with Great Britain within 10 years, is contained in a bill to be introduced by Chairman Britten of the naval affairs committee.

Expect Premier King Will Be Candidate

Prince Albert Liberal Association Working Out That Assumption

Prince Albert, Sask.—From Dr. G. A. Robertson, president of the Prince Albert Liberal Association, it was learned that the organization is working on the assumption that Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King will again run in this riding. "The premier," Dr. Robertson stated, "had assured us that as long as we want him, he will be the Liberal candidate for this constituency. Practically all the polls have already forwarded resolutions of confidence in Mr. King to us. A convention will be held only as a matter of form but the date has not yet been decided upon."

Conservatives in the riding are holding a nominating convention here, June 6, and among the names mentioned as probable candidates are George Twiss, well-known as the Rosters Conservative; D. L. Burgess, Macdonald, who opposed Premier King at a previous election is also mentioned.

Harry Davis, unofficial leader of the Labor element in Prince Albert, is also reportedly taking an active part in the coming election, declared that such was not the present intention but they were getting together in strength for the next provincial tilt.

Many Are Seeking Broadcasting Licenses

Majority Not Likely To Be Considered Until Election Is Over

Ottawa, Ont.—More than 200 applications for broadcasting licenses have been submitted to the Department of Marine, which department has the authority to grant such licenses. The great majority of these will likely be held in abeyance until after the general elections, it was intimated by departmental officials. Some of the more extensive projects may be authorized but the others will have to wait.

One of the applications which may be granted very soon is one from the Canadian Pacific Railway for permission to erect three high powered broadcasting stations, one in Montreal, one in Toronto and one in western Canada, at a point to be selected later.

The general impression at Parliament Hill is that the committee selected by the House of Commons to consider the recommendations of the royal commission that investigated direct broadcasting, will not proceed in view of the impending dissolution. Students of the problem think the committee will give up the attempt to crystallize public opinion either for or against public ownership and in the meantime the report will be allowed to stand over.

"Wop" May Visit Ottawa

But Distinguished Aviator Slips Through to See King

Ottawa, Ont.—Slipping through the city so quietly that officials of the Department of National Defense, who had been informed of his presence, did not know that he had actually been here, Captain W. R. "Wop" May, Edmonton, recently awarded the McKee trophy as the Canadian having contributed most to the cause of aviation in 1929, paid a brief visit to the capital on May 6.

Since the award of the trophy was announced, air officials have been anxious to get in touch with the noted flier, to inform him of his success. Had Col. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defense, been aware of the winner of the trophy, he would have been delayed in order that formal presentation might be made to him of the great honor he takes back west.

May came down into the Ottawa River, opposite Rockcliffe airport, in one of the new Bellanca monoplane just purchased by the Airways Company of which he is chief pilot. After refueling and having a brief chat with mechanics—during which he spoke rather bashfully of his success in being awarded the prize trophy—May took to the air again, bound for Sudbury, Ont., and eventually Edmonton.

Heavy Lumber Shipments

Vancouver, B.C.—With the cancellation of licenses for export liquor warehouses effective June 1, it is provided for in Federal legislation, heavy shipments of liquor from Vancouver to Europe have been made during the past two weeks. Recently the steamship "Pacific Pioneer" carried 150 cases of bonded liquor back to the United Kingdom and the motorship "Drehtdyk" carried 700 cases.

Elimination Of Weed Seeds Is Discussed

Proposition Made To House Of Commons By G. G. Cote

Ottawa, Ont.—Elimination of weed seeds from feed oats and barley was proposed before the agriculture committee of the House of Commons by G. G. Cote (P.E.A.) when he wanted the establishment of feed grades of these grains free from weeds and believed that such could be cleaned out of oats and barley.

The difference between the grades of feed oats and barley, in the present schedules of the Act, it was explained, is that feed oats might be free from weeds. The matter was left over for further consideration.

BRITAIN WOULD CONSIDER LAND SETTLEMENT AID

The Pas, Man.—The British Government is ready to consider any feasible project to promote land settlement in the Carrot River Valley, according to a letter received from town officials from the secretary of state for dominion affairs.

The Carrot River Valley lies to the southwest of The Pas, and includes land in both Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

The letter from the overseas department points out, however, that settlement aid from England would necessarily be subject to certain conditions, such as the Empire Settlement Act of 1922, and financial support from either the federal or provincial governments or both. The letter also points out that the British Government does not undertake the purchase or ownership of land in Canada for settlement purposes.

The communication from the British Government says in part that "consideration by His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom of any such scheme of settlement and development must necessarily be governed by the provisions of the Empire Settlement Act of 1922, which empowers the secretary of state, in association with the government of any part of His Majesty's dominions or with the public authorities or public or private organizations either in the United Kingdom or in any part of such dominions to formulate and co-operate in carrying out agreed schemes for affording joint assistance to persons desiring to settle in the United Kingdom, who intend to settle in His Majesty's overseas dominions, provided that the contribution of the secretary of state shall not in any case exceed half of the expenses of the scheme."

Subject to the above conditions, His Majesty's government in the United Kingdom would be prepared to give careful consideration to any concrete proposals for promoting land settlement in Canada by migrants from the United Kingdom, provided such proposals were approved and recommended by, and preferably received a financial contribution from, His Majesty's government in Canada.

The secretary was instructed by council to forward a copy of the letter to the Minister of Natural Resources in Winnipeg, and also to the Premier of Saskatchewan.

TRAIN TELEPHONE NOW A FACT

The Canadian National Railways, which first made possible the reception of radio concerts on board a moving train, an invention which many first class railroads have since copied, have achieved another mechanical triumph by perfecting the first two-way system of telephone communication in the world with moving trains.

The system has been put into public service by the company on "The International Limited," which covers the 334 miles separating Montreal and Toronto in 360 minutes, the fastest train in the world traveling a like distance.

The photograph shows Sir Henry Thornton, Chairman and President of the Canadian National Railways, inaugurating the telephone service on "The International Limited" while the train is traveling at 60 miles an hour. At the train's head is J. C. Burkholder, Chief Engineer of the Canadian National Telegraphs, who developed and perfected the train telephone system.

Preference Is Re-Established

Australian Government Will Continue Preference To Returned Soldiers

Canberra, Australia.—The Labor Government of Australia has, in the face of strong public opinion, moderated one of its ordinances passed in favor of the trades union movement.

Prime Minister James Scullin announced the government was reverting to the former regulation which gave first preference to returned soldiers on government work contracts, and second preference to trades unionists.

The recently-announced decision of the government to abolish the preference to ex-soldiers unless they were also trades unionists, a result of indignation, and veterans' organizations all over Australia were organizing to organize a campaign to fight the government's action.

To Broadcast From Dirigible

Story Of Flight Of R-100 Will Be Given Direct From Airship

London, England.—It was understood here that the Canadian National will broadcast the story of the flight of the R-100 direct from the dirigible.

When asked regarding the above dispatch, E. A. War, director of radio of the Canadian National Railways, stated that details of an agreement to broadcast the story of the flight were underway and that the broadcast would be carried over the Canadian National network through stations in the Dominion, direct from the airship.

Walking Across Canada

Montreal, Que.—With a knapsack on her back, Hon. Catherine Trevelyan, daughter of Right Hon. Sir Charles Plimsley, Minister of Education in the British Government, arrived in Montreal on board the Cunard liner "Albatross."

Alone she has set out on a walking tour of Canada as far west as the Rockies, and intends if possible to get through to Vancouver.

Bill Given Third Reading

Ottawa.—After a tempestuous hour in which there were four roll calls, the House of Commons gave third reading to the bill to establish divorce courts in Ontario. The vote on the third reading stood, yes 100, nays 85.

London, England.—As suddenly as it had flared up India's civil disobedience disorders subsided. From a widely hung storm of violent encounters Mahatma Gandhi's campaign of resistance to the government simmered down to a few widely separated clashes.

The work of these, costing nine lives, occurred at Chittagong, which was also the scene on April 18, of a riot in which two Europeans and several natives were killed.

Again at Calcutta armed police were compelled to act. A mob raided the police station, smashed in its iron gates and there was checked. Several police officers suffered injuries and 25 arrests occurred.

Simla reported officially that four deaths had occurred in recent riots. In the civilian hospital 96 persons were treated. To this number were added 18 police injury cases.

Advices from Delhi stated that a patrol of British cavalry, infantry and armored cars were being maintained there.

The arrival of V. J. Patel at Bombay and his proclamation for a widespread boycott against British goods was the outstanding development of the district. Despatches did not indicate how Mahatma Gandhi's followers would accept this attitude.

The comparative quiet in Bombay was broken only by an early onslaught of a mob upon textile workers who sought to prevent reopening of cotton mills.

The government continues to avoid any intimation which might tend to inflame the native mind. Moderate Indian opinion, it was stated, continues to support the government.

There was a hopeful forward-looking attitude for the proposed round-table discussion.

The government forces have emerged with only one fatality, the killing of a British citizen in Peshawar. This was pointed to as a sinister foreboding omen, as an indication of the prompt action taken by the authorities.

Plan Important Survey Work Far North Area To Be Mapped From Air

Edmonton, Alberta.—Aerial surveys of the far north, inspection work by three field parties under direction of the Department of the Interior, opening of a branch office at Fort Smith, and the transfer to the department of staff from Winnipeg and The Pas, have been announced here.

An airplane base is to be established at Fort Resolution, arrangements having been made by the Department of the Interior with the Royal Canadian Air Force, which will be utilized to facilitate important survey work which will be carried out by the Federal Government.

These steps to increase staff and services in the far north are being undertaken by the Department of the Interior in view of the enlarged operations of exploration companies and prospectors.

Exhibiting At British Fairs

Canada Taking Part In Eighteen During Present Year

Ottawa.—Canada is participating in 18 exhibitions and trade fairs in Great Britain during the present year, in addition to the British Industries Fair which was recently held at the Olympia Building, London, England. Most of these exhibitions are being held under the auspices of the Empire Marketing board and will enable Canadian produce to be exhibited in most of the industrial centers of England, Scotland and Ireland.

In addition, Canada is actively participating in the six months' International Exhibition held in Antwerp, which opens on April 26.

Subject of the grain act was to regulate the weighing and handling of grain so that whatever the world price might be the Canadian producer would get the greatest possible return. Mr. Malcolm was optimistic about the future. He said Western Canada had the best of the year with an excellent administrative body, the Board of Grain Commissioners, with the best grain act it had had and with the best spirit of co-operation ever experienced.

Request Will Be Considered

C.N.R. May Make The Pas Divisional Headquarters

The Pas, Man.—The request of town officials that The Pas be made the headquarters for the Canadian National Railways lines in northern Manitoba, will receive active consideration, according to advices received from the department of railways and from Sir Henry Thornton, C.N.R. president.

A cable received by the town clerk states that the minister of railways will make enquiries in the matter, and will keep local officers advised of developments.

It was also stated that the minister of railways will make enquiries in the matter, and will keep local officers advised of developments.

CIVIL RIOTS IN INDIA REPORTED TO BE SUBSIDING

London, England.—As suddenly as it had flared up India's civil disobedience disorders subsided. From a widely hung storm of violent encounters Mahatma Gandhi's campaign of resistance to the government simmered down to a few widely separated clashes.

MINISTER WARNS AGAINST LOWER GRAIN ACREAGE

Wheat producers of Canada have nothing to gain by cutting down production. Hon. James Malcolm, Minister of Trade and Commerce, told the House of Commons yesterday on agriculture. The committee was considering the new Grain Act and the minister took advantage of the occasion to make a few comments on the grain situation.

The Canadian problem, he said, was more economical and scientific production. Recent experiences, he said, had shown that high-priced wheat encouraged the use of substitutes in European countries. Through the application of chemical treatment, European millers were now able to make fairly good bread out of low grade wheat.

Canada, said the minister, produced the best wheat in the world and by scientific methods could produce wheat more cheaply than any of her competitors. The high price put the country in a poor position but the declining price put it in a stronger position.

Subject of the grain act was to regulate the weighing and handling of grain so that whatever the world price might be the Canadian producer would get the greatest possible return. Mr. Malcolm was optimistic about the future. He said Western Canada had the best of the year with an excellent administrative body, the Board of Grain Commissioners, with the best grain act it had had and with the best spirit of co-operation ever experienced.

Pioneer Flying Trip

New York, Aviator Will Try Out Northern Route

Saint John, N.B.—An eight to ten-day pioneer flying trip between Saint John, New Brunswick, and Moscow, Russia, via Alaska and the Bering Straits, will be made this fall or early in the spring of 1931 by George F. King, of New York, a representative of the Junkers Corporation.

The flight will be made of establishing a northern air route connecting with the United States and Canada in a commercial way.

Mr. King, who was here recently looking over the local possibilities in the event of such a trade route, said Saint John was an ideal eastern terminal. He could not say definitely whether he would make Saint John or Moscow the starting point in the pioneer flight planned for during the month of November next, or March, 1931. The direction of the flight and the starting point, as well as the nature of the weather prevailing at the time.

Canada Is Confident

President Of C.P.R. Sees Good Future For Business

Montreal, Que.—General confidence throughout Canada is unshaken by the present economic conditions which has developed the present situation, the country's strength has been effectively proved and the future is not to be viewed with any degree of apprehension, in the opinion of E. W. Heston, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, as declared to the shareholders of the company at the annual meeting held here.

While a number of factors, particularly the failure to market Canadian grain, have slowed up freight traffic, Heston felt there was no fundamental character to prevent the return of normal business conditions within the next few months.

Election Likely In July

Ottawa.—A July election seems more probable than previously, it was pointed out as soon as the legislation on the order paper with some minor additions came by agreement with the opposition parties be adopted he would dissolve or prorogue parliament and permit the people to choose their representatives for the next general election. The conference in London, England, in September.

Secretary-Treasurer.

Get those new tires for this week-end

Don't spend this week-end by the roadside. Spend it on the road! Come in right now and we'll fit you out with the new tires you need. We've got Goodyears in wide variety as to size, tread and price. But all offer the biggest value for the money. Our service in putting them on your wheels and seeing they are properly inflated is free.
